Reader [Associate Professor] in Employment and Head of the Decent Work and Productivity Research Centre at Manchester Metropolitan University

The Quality Improvement Framework (QIF) is a blueprint for employability quality practices in all organisational contexts. It applies the 'what works' evidence gathered and analysed through the Centre for Employability Excellence. Developed and designed by and for the employability sector, the QIF offers a robust set of six research-informed quality indicators and behavioural guides. With special thanks to Mesma, The Good Employability Company, Fedcap, Ingeus, Serco, Education Development Trust, and the Growth Company for their valued input and contributions.

CfEE and QIF informs and feeds into the IEP Learning
