

The impact of a global pandemic (COVID-19) on the delivery of CEIAG for graduates.

This research study will:

- Explore how careers professionals are adapting / have adapted to remote online delivery of careers education, information, advice and guidance
 - Explore careers professionals perception of their profession / service from a remote/virtual context and how they see it going forward post-pandemic
- Investigate the changing graduate labour market and recruitments processes, during COVID-19, and explore how careers professionals own understanding of these changes influence what they are doing to support graduates

What stage am I at?

- Extended Proposal Approved
- Ethics Application Supervisor Approved
- Ethics Application submitted to the Ethics Committee and is pending approval

Methodology

- Qualitative (thematic analysis) and Quantitative (descriptive statistics) approach through an online survey
- Target population: careers professionals working in a Scottish HEI